

Elizabeth Ann Rogenmoser

November 20, 1960 - February 5, 2024

Elizabeth Ann Rogenmoser passed away peacefully at her home, surrounded with love and care from her family and beloved kitties. She is survived by her long-time boyfriend David Volker, and her daughters Shannon Schroeder (Nappy) and Jillian Barr, and her siblings Rich, Sharon, Don, Debbie and Dan and her many adored cousins, nieces, nephews, family and friends.

Elizabeth was a talented artist and loved making stained glass pictures and painting with Bob Ross. She was an avid gardener and made an art out of her landscaping as well, some of which included flowers from her Mother's gardens. She was a truck driver and traveled the country in a big rig. She loved music and was always singing and dancing. She took many RV road trip adventures with her love, David, and enjoyed kayaking and hiking along the way. She had a wild spirit and a heart of gold. She was tough, worked very hard to achieve her goals and wasn't ever afraid to speak up for what she believed in—and she made damn sure to raise her daughters exactly the same way. Her beauty was classic and her laugh was infectious and her radiant energy brightened every room she walked in. Most importantly, she loved her family very much. She will be very dearly missed by many. A memorial will be held in her honor, to be announced by the family.
