“ Thanksgiving is here. The parades will be coming on and I will be cooking. But the phone will not ring. I remember talking about the flowers on the floats and the Macys parade. Funny, every time I walk in the door of Macys I think about you. I miss you.

“ Mom,

Five months, and the holidays are upon us, and losing you is still as fresh this morning as it was 5 months ago. Your wreath is there with you, made it myself, not bad, huh? Thanksgiving won't be the same, you and Joel won't be arriving late, and you won't be bringing your pumpkin pie. And who is gonna make the gravy this year. I miss you so very much Mom.

Love,

Karen

you taught me it was okay to stand on my own, to face adversity in the eye, and to rise above, and not let anyone or anything get the best of me. Others may judge, but in the end the truth will prevail. I miss your wisdom, and your strength, and our talks.

“ Grandma, I've been thinking of you lately, and I really miss your laugh. Although there were times we didnt see eye to eye, there were many things you taught me that I'll never forget. You always did your best, and I'm just glad you realized the many truths that were hidden from you for so many years. We really miss you and hope that your spirit will be remembered by everybody that knew you. "If you love somebody, than SHOW IT!"

“ Fran was always a spunky, vivacious and extremely spirited soul whom unselfishly went out of her way to do many things for so many people. As I knew her , She was the glue that held many facets of her family and friends together. She will be missed by all of us whom knew and loved her for who and what she was and how much she gave back to her community, friends and family.
