“ Literally I have so much I can say but when it comes time I’m speechless. I just can’t even believe this is real. It literally breaks my heart not walking outside and seeing your smiling face. That smile would light up a room. You did whatever you could for me. Whenever I cried you were there. No matter what it was. You had one of the biggest hearts. It’s not the same anymore. I wanna song to your country music when I go do laundry. I’m so used to asking you if you need smokes from the Rez. I always looked at you like an aunt but you treated me like your daughter. Prolly bc my mom lol. But I miss you so much. I find myself just staring at your door and it hurts more so now that I’ve see the obituary. I love you so much, even if we had petty disagreements at times. I still listened to what you had to say. I wish I could of helped I wish I known. I would of tried to help 🥹🥹🥹 I love you Aunt Justine and that will never change. Rest easy 💔💔
