“ Love to you all. You all always made me feel part of the family, and I feel the loss as you do. She was a wonderful woman, who had many good years, and lots of love to give. She is now in heaven awaiting the rest of us. Love you, wish I could be with you in your time of need.

“ Find strength in God by turning to him in prayer. He can supply the curative comfort that the family needs. Going to him, along with seeking to do his will, will certainly bring healing to the aching heart. (Psalm 86:6,7)
My condolences.
