“Too many stories of being scared, gut wrenching laughter, silliness and childhood innocence interrupted by life. I loved Mary and no matter what or when she loved me. She was my cousin who I always knew would be there. My safe place to fall without judgement. This special friend knew how to love and show kindness, especially to those who you would least expect to be loved. I even saw her make a baby cow feel special at the fair. She had a way about her that connected right to the soul. She helped prolong my dogs life, and helped me through so many painful times. She made me feel loved when nobody else could. She laughed with me at her mother's funeral and taught me how to go on during hard times. She showed me how to always follow my own yellow brick road, and fight off wicked witches without ever losing site of where our journey is taking us. There's no place like home, and I know she'll be waiting there for me. I love you Mare, and thank you for the love and the lesson. Until we meet again.”
