“ May Peace now be with Pam's Dad, Mom, Zachary... My prayers are with you all..

Dearest Pam, There were many times that we didn't talk through the years, not because our friendship ever faded. Only because things were going on in our lives.. I just want you to know that I feel so indiffernt with myself these past few days, and it's because I feel I should have been there while you were sick, instead I was so wrapped up in my own self pitty.. I have learned a valuable lesson this past week.. My troubles are not so over powering, I am still here living and breathing and watching my kids grow and soon my grandson.. I have thought about you all weekend and I am ashamed that I was so caught up in my own misery, I feel terrible about things that I have heard that happened while you were going through all of this... I do hope you know that I am so sorry that I wasn't around when you could have used my help!!!! I wish I could go back in time, like the way things use to be, when I was there for you.... We go back so many years.. Well now you can lay your soul on me... Always you can lean.. Once you were here but now you are gone, but I will forever remember the tears, smiles and the laughs we always shared, even when I didn't agree with you, I will still and always hold you dear to my heart.. So many promises made in childhood, back in the days of innocence.

Throughout grammar & high school, broken hearts, and adolescence, our friendship always thrived. Two young girls with dreams and goals grew up and became wives and mothers, you with one son and me with 2 girls and a boy, seems it happened in an instant. Always advising the other. Watching our boys play from up in your window, good lord we always wish we can go back in time... A time when things were still simple and calm, a time when we were healthy and our men were not sucked it by the evils of society...Still we were always close across the distance. Our lives are forever changed, this damn cancer had the power to destroy, yet it took you away from so many, but your memory will live on for all eternity.... I am so gonna miss running into you here and there.. talking about old times and living some new ones.. But girlfriend I hope you know I am sorry I wasn't there like I could have or should have been... I will take heed to this fresh new lesson that I have just experienced and I will try so much harder to get past and to move on with my own journey, and to always remember that there are others who need me more than my self pity.... Whenever I needed someone to talk to, you were always there. Many times my eyes filled with tears, my heart filled with pain, over the things I was going through with Kurt and you were always there. There was no time when I had doubt to come to you... U always listened for hours on end and I could see in your eyes you wanted to help, and that you really cared. Whenever I was down and blue, no matter my problems, or what was going on, I knew you would be around and you would understand.. Now your gone, I close my eyes and think of you, and I am so thankful you are not suffering anymore.. I will remember you the way you were, when I look at your picture I get a big smile on my face and remember the good ole days... You were right when you told me no matter how far we were, we would never be to far out of our hearts and minds.. One day I'll see you again, I am glad I got to say goodbye... R.I.P Pam...

“ *Dear Carol & Family,
Always hold on to your thoughts and memories of Pam. All the times you loved, cried, and laughed together. She can no longer speak, but she can listen. She can no longer be seen, but she can be heard in the wind, and in the fluttering of a delicate butterfly's wings. She is at peace.
May God's tender touch give you all the strength to endure this sorrowful journey.*
