“ I miss you a lot and I hope you have a great time in Heaven with God, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit. Sorry you had to die young. I had fun when we went to Darien Lake together and I remember when you had to go home early because you got sick on the superman. I hope you are proud of me for riding the Viper even though I was scared to.

*Love always,
Lexi*

“ Ray, I told my girls that by writing in this that they could tell you what they want to tell you while you are in heaven. I helped Abby type it out. This past year was so hard on you, and you fought harder than I saw anyone fight. I know you wanted to live, and I just wish I could have done more... in my mind I had made all kinds of plans, about how long it would take for you in rehab, and all the things I would have to do to help get you on your feet again. I even kept washing your clothes thinking you would go to rehab soon. Even when they told me there was nothing more they could do, I still thought that somehow, someday, a miracle would happen and you would wake up and be ok again. I will miss you like crazy, because in the past year I was there with you so much, and we had a lot of laughs. Even how sick you were, you would still make people laugh. You were always so honest, and you never lied to me. You were awesome Ray, and I just wish I could chat with you again, and hang out with you, and bring you more Mountain Dew =) The only thing that matters now is that you are at peace. I think right now you are the only one that is, because it sure isn't peaceful at all anymore. I hope that your funeral is full of people who love you, I will be there, it would be wrong if I wouldn't be. I promised you I would be there for you no matter what, and I always will. You will be missed so much. Not many people can make me laugh anymore, but you could. I love you and always will.
