Robert (Bob) Leber

November 25, 1964 – October 29, 2025

Bob was a man that enjoyed the solitude of the outdoors, hunting, nature, true friends and family. He could sit in a tree stand for hours cold and alone in peace and enjoy it. If people had an interest, he would teach; he was like his father in that way. He would teach a friend how to shoot a muzzle loader and crossbow. He would teach his nephews how to weld and help with any issue they had. He would teach his nephew and young niece to split and stack a fallen tree. He enjoyed watching his family's children enjoying the outdoors and riding ATVs in the fields and riding mower at his home. These are the things he enjoyed. His sense of humor was the greatest, but you had to understand it was his humor. As one friend told me they would laugh at Curley, Larry and Moe skits. That does explain part of his humor.

He is the son of Theodore and Geraldine Leber, brother of Sue (Tom) Wackenheim and Cathy (Paul) Nixon. He is uncle to Eric, Andrew (Erica), Melissa (Scott) and James (Belinda). He has a few little ones that he could have enjoyed if he was given more time. Harper, Levi, Hadley, Nick, Kylie, Mckenna (she has Bob's humor) Eleanor and Luke. He is the other half of his loving, true and special friend Tammy and Papa to Tara and Lanna.

He fought hard to the very end. He had the comfort of his family and friends every step of the way. He had his loyal lab Larry by his side to keep him company through the pain. He had the support of everyone that loved him.

A friend of Bob's sent me this very fitting quote "Being like everybody is the same as being nobody". Bob was his own person making him somebody. Bob, you put up a good fight doing everything you were told, but unfortunately the cancer won and took you from us too soon...We will miss you forever. “ Bobby is the baby brother of my friend Sue. I have known him as long as I know Sue which is well over 40 years. In all that time, the things I will remember most about him, are his sense of humor and no matter what else was going on in his life- him doing the right thing when it mattered most. Mom (Gerrie) and Dad brought him up right and that showed.

Rest now Bobby.
