“ There are many fond memories of Roy... His practical jokes, his laughter, his looking for the good in people instead of pointing out the bad, the encouraging words, knowing that he was always there for anyone who needed him. Roy also said that he was not afraid to die. I believe in my heart, that he is now at peace. No more suffering. I miss Roy, but feel content with the fact that he is now at peace. To watch him suffer, was harder. My love and prayers go out to each and every one of you that also miss him! He has left us with so many great memories. Cherish them! Karen
