Samuel E. Richbart

08/22/38 – 12/29/21

Sam Richbart, Sr. is now in heaven with Jesus. We hope you had the privilege of knowing him.

- He loved Jesus.
- He loved his family.
- He loved to talk about mathematics.
- He loved to talk about bowling.
- He loved to talk about the Bills.
- He loved watching the Yankees.
- He loved Opera.
- He loved America's Got Talent.
- He loved to talk about playing basketball when he was young.
- He loved to talk about serving at Boy Scout camp.
- He loved to talk about Kay (his late wife).
- He loved to talk about your interests, too.
- He loved to smile.
- He loved to joke.
- He loved to tease.
- He was a fabulous teacher.
- He was always teaching.

- He loved serving in Stockade.
- He had the best Story Circles.
- He loved dogs.
- He loved taking us out to dinner.
- If you were in need, he wanted to help.
- He loved and cared for everyone.
- He loved his family.
- He loved Jesus!!

We have comfort in knowing where he is, but we will miss him.

A memorial service will be held with only family present. The service will be streamed live on Thursday, January 6th at 2 PM, at ihopechurch.com/live, facebook.com/ihopechurch and iHope Community Church's YouTube Channel. It will also be available on demand after as well on all three platforms.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to iHope Community Church, 316 Thompson St, North Tonawanda, NY 14120.

“ Mr. Richbart didn't merely teach math to his students. He taught us how to think logically. His influence on my life was immeasurable. His Christian testimony also impacted me in so many ways. I refer to his teaching me often. Praying for the family during this time of loss.

*My deep condolence: Deb, Sam Jnr, Sarah, and all.
I will forever miss our math talks, prof! The great times we spent reading Regents Exams together are unforgettable.
We've lost a giant on whose shoulders many of us rode for wise counsel and the finest math content knowledge.*

Rest in the Lord, prof.
