“ "I'm Glad You're In My Dash" ”

I'm Glad You're In My Dash

I read of a man who stood to speak at the funeral of a friend.

He referred to the dates on her tombstone,

From the beginning...to the end.

He noted that first came her date of birth

And spoke the following date with tears,

But he said what mattered most of all

Was the dash between those years.

(1967 - 2013)

For that dash represents all the time

That she spent alive on earth...

And now only those who loved her,

Know what that little line is worth.

For it matters not, how much we own;

The cars...the house...the cash,

What matters is how we live and love

And how we spend our dash.

So think about this long and hard...

Are there things you'd like to change?

For you never know how much time is left,

That can still be rearranged.

If we could just slow down enough

To consider what's true and real,

And always try to understand

The way other people feel

And be less quick to anger,

And show appreciation more

And love the people in our lives

Like we've never loved before.

If we treat each other with respect,

And more often wear a smile..

Remembering that this special dash

Might only last a little while.

So, when your eulogy's being read

With your life's actions to rehash...

Would you be proud of the things they say

About how you spent your dash?

“ so very sorry for your loss. tom was a major part of the "old neighborhood" and although we have had some hard times in the old neighborhood, the good times far outweighed them. I can honestly say we part ways as friends. may god bless and keep you.
